Research Experience

Graduate Research Assistant

May 2025 - Feb. 2026

Language and Cognitive Neuroscience Lab | Teachers College, Columbia University

Principal Investigator: Dr. Peter Gordon

- Develop automated sLORETA EEG analysis scripts using Python and MNE for 24 subjects to enable real-time 3D brain visualization.
- Design a configurable data pipeline supporting diverse cognitive tasks, including direction, size, and cardinality assessments.
- Operate EEG and eye-tracking instrumentation to facilitate rigorous data collection and maintain optimal signal quality.
- Analyze complex cognitive neuroscience concepts within a journal reading group to identify and apply relevant research methodologies.

Graduate Research Assistant

Oct. 2024 - May 2025

Cognitive Media Lab | UCSD/Columbia University

Principal Investigator: Dr. Michael Haupt

- Program and implement digital surveys to facilitate large-scale data collection for social research.
- Execute statistical analyses using Python and SPSS to model complex relationships via multiple regression and group comparisons.
- Evaluate socioeconomic and demographic correlations to identify systemic barriers to healthcare access.
- Author and revise manuscript sections to communicate findings for peer-reviewed publication.

Undergraduate Research Assistant

Apr. 2023 - May 2024

Meaningful Math Research Group | Syracuse University

Principal Investigator: Dr. Nicole Fonger

- Investigated the impact of social justice themes on critical thinking, identity, and academic engagement in precalculus students.
- Employed mixed methods (interviews and surveys) to gather and analyze data from 58 students at a predominantly white institution.

- Facilitated community events for "The Data Warriors" youth research program to foster community engagement.
- Synthesized qualitative data into academic manuscripts and presented findings at conferences including PME-NA 2024.

Undergraduate Research Assistant

Feb. 2022 - May 2022

The Sharpe Lab | Syracuse University

Principal Investigator: Dr. Charlotte Sharpe

- Applied qualitative research methodologies and ethical protocols to effectively study high school student attitudes toward teaching.
- Facilitated on-site focus groups and conducted semi-structured interviews to gather primary qualitative data.
- Analyzed interview transcripts to identify key thematic patterns regarding educational perspectives.
- Synthesized research findings to contribute to final project analysis and group discussions.

Teaching Experience

Florida State University

- Teaching Assistant, Introduction to Mass Media (MMC 2000) Fall 2026
- Teaching Assistant, Principles of Advertising (ADV 3008) Fall 2026

Columbia University

- Teaching Assistant, NLP for Social Sciences (QMSS GR5067) Spring/Summer/Fall 2025
Guided graduate students in implementing machine learning models and text analysis techniques to extract social insights from large-scale datasets.

Ningbo Landwave EDU

- Academic Tutor, TOEFL/SAT/A-Level Math Spring 2026
Conducted instructional sessions on standardized test logic and mathematical reasoning while managing systematic vocabulary assessments for college-bound students.

Syracuse University

- First Year Leader, First Year Seminar (FYS 101) Fall 2022, Fall 2023
Mentored undergraduate cohorts through their transition to university life by leading workshops on academic integrity and campus resource engagement.
- Calculus Facilitator, AEW for Calculus II (ECS 116) Fall 2021
Led collaborative problem-solving sessions to clarify complex integration techniques and series convergence for engineering and science majors.
